

serenate

Songs of Love and Special occasions

eng

Serenades are a refined yet popular form of “street” music: a few acoustic instruments, a leading voice, and the art of stopping in front of a house, a balcony, or a table to sing a dedication.

Born in the alleys and squares of Southern Italy, they became the universal language of love: a song instead of a speech, a melody instead of a written note.

A repertoire of Neapolitan serenades, also known as “posteggia” songs, many of which born between the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, among salons and courtyards, popular theatres and urban songbooks. These are intense and engaging love songs, capable of speaking directly to the heart, gradually opening into a brighter, more participatory dimension inspired by Romani musical tradition: listening becomes presence, sharing, celebration – telling simple and universal emotions.

The music comes to life in an essential format of strong presence: the intense and warm voice of Irene Lungo, an authentic Neapolitan singer and highly sensitive interpreter, intertwines with Marco Ghezze’s violin and Bruno Galeone’s accordion. Three musicians with solid international experience.

Upon request, the event may also include a narrator, performed by Giuseppe Semeraro, alternating the music with delicate moments of love poetry.

Depending on the needs of the event, the ensemble is flexible and may include additional musicians.

“Serenades” integrate elegantly into exclusive settings and outstanding venues: from a surprise balcony serenade on the eve of a wedding, to a musical interlude during the celebration, to a tailor-made set among the tables or in a dedicated space, in dialogue with the event direction. On the eve of the wedding, Serenades become a ritual of good fortune: an ancient gesture to share with friends and family, a promise sung aloud.

During the wedding, an acoustic set offers an elegant change of pace, creating attention and engagement, leaving an authentic and lasting memory – far beyond any scenic effect.

At the heart of the repertoire are ancient Neapolitan love songs, from I' te vurria vasà (1900) to Nun t'affaccià! (1908), from Dicitencello vuje (1930) to Malafemmena (1951) and Indifferentemente (1963).

The selection of songs and the energy of the set can be tailored to the style and key moments of the event, always maintaining a refined, intimate acoustic identity where love – sung – takes center stage.

 VIDEO

serenate

canzoni d'amore e d'occasione

Available for

pre-wedding serenades
wedding celebrations (in the main hall or among the tables)

Why choose them

immediate emotional impact / minimal technical setup seamless integration with the wedding coordination / strong guest engagement a unique and memorable experience

A living, essential, and timeless tradition: Serenades transform any event into a unique experience, bringing emotion and beauty – the ideal choice for every occasion where love takes center stage.

Duration 1 hour,30 minutes

Flexible sets: one or more moments distributed throughout the event

Audio

acoustic and/or light amplification depending on the venue and number of guests

Line-up

Irene Lungo (vocals), Marco Ghezzi (violin), Bruno Galeone (accordion)

Production

AltraMarea

altramarea produzioni@gmail.com

mob. +39 347 8157272 Marinella Mazzotta / +39 327 7372824 Raffaella Romano

www.altramareaproduzioni.it